The screenshot shows the CSIS website in Microsoft Internet Explorer. The browser title is "CSIS - Cervical Screening Information System - Microsoft Internet Explorer". The address bar shows "https://www.csis.gov.hk/jsp/index.htm". The page title is "CERVICAL SCREENING INFORMATION SYSTEM". The navigation menu on the left includes: User Login, Password Retrieval, Account Activation, Laboratory Registration, User Registration, General Public, Service Provider, and Laboratory User. The "Activation Code" link is circled in red, and a red arrow points to it from the number "4" on the left. The main content area is titled "Account Activation" and contains a note: "NOTE: Please choose your login name and password which will be used for future login." Below the note is the "Account Details" section with the following fields: HK ID (input field), Passport No. (input field, with note "(if no HK ID)"), Date of Birth (input field with a dropdown arrow, with note "(if provided during registration)"), Login Name (input field, with note "(at least 6 characters / numbers)"), User Type (dropdown menu), and Password (input field, with note "(at least 6 characters / numbers)").

5. Your login name and password must be alphabets or numbers or combination of both and at least 6-characters in length. Meanwhile, the login name and password must not be the same. The login name cannot be changed once being chosen but you may change your password later.
6. After completing the form, press “Submit” and “OK” to confirm the submission of information.

7. Message confirming your successful account activation will be prompted.
Press "Back to Home" to return to the front page.

8. Enter your login name and password to log in to the CSIS.
